

25 January 2012

Media release

Allconnex reminds customers to avoid contact with floodwaters

Allconnex Water is reminding all customers to avoid contact with floodwaters as they could pose potential health risks.

An Allconnex spokesperson said there is always a possibility of wastewater overflows into floodwaters during extreme weather events due to overloading of the system.

“Please don’t go near any floodwaters as they could be contaminated with wastewater and other pollutants collected by the storm flows,” he said.

“This includes any overflowing water systems such as stormwater drains and local creeks.”

To report any water or wastewater issues please contact 1300 000 WATER (1300 000 928).

Inquiries: Steve Sayers, Media Officer
ph: 07 5570 7303 or 0417 542 436